WHY NOT MAKE YOUR GARDEN DREAMS COME TRUE?

The only way to have your "garden dreams" come true is to begin with a well defined plan. A plan gives you a definite picture of what you desire to accomplish. It serves as a guide to help you order the right planting material. It acts as a pattern to help you plant the right varieties in their proper places.

Later on, in the season, when the warm days of early Spring arrive you will be too busy, doing the hundred and one necessary things in your garden, to do much planning. That's the reason we stress the importance of planning at this time.

Consult us, now. We are anxious to help you complete your garden plan at no obligation to you. It is part of our service to aid you in making your planting more beautiful and fruitful.

Telephone Dansville, 832-F3... Let us come to your home and talk it over. We'll help you decide on what and where to plant.

CONSIDER THE BIRDS

To provide a bird's sanctuary in your plantings, and add trees, shrubs and vines which will attract these feathered friends, does not mean that beauty of design must be sacrificed. On the contrary, a charming bird bath amid shrubs and flowers becomes a delightful addition to the garden.. and the plants which bear colorful fruits are a cheery note during the drab winter months. To afford the birds protection against winter winds include evergreens in the border:.when snow covers the ground the birds enjoy the fruits of such attractive plants as Japanese Barberry, Flowering Dogwood, Bittersweet, Honeysuckles, Mountain Ash, Snowberry and the Viburnums. Invite the birds to your garden by adding some of these plants to your borders.

You are cordially invited to visit our Nurseries whenever it is convenient for you. We are located on the Dansville-Mount Morris Highway, Route 36, four miles from the village of Dansville.

We do not publish a catalog. But, whatever your needs, we shall be pleased to quote you by mail.

The old-fashioned back yard must go--in its place comes the Outdoor Living Room.

EVERGREENS

Evergreens lend an atmosphere of security and comfort when they are planted about the foundation of a home. They dignify the architectural beauty of the house, especially at the doorway. The tall, narrow types are bold exclamation points in the background The larger types develop into beautiful lawn specimens. There are also varieties adapted to hedge plantings along walks, drives and boundaries. In fact, you'll find that there is a type of evergreen suitable for practically every purpose.

Spring is a good time to plant evergreens. They have the whole growing season in which to make new roots and get established. All varieties of evergreens move well at this time.

According to the progress of the season, they can be moved with little setback up to the time when the new shoots are starting. They can be moved even later by experienced planters, though it is sometimes necessary to pinch off part of the soft shoots, which otherwise might die.

As you plan additions and improvements in your garden, take notice where evergreens will make your grounds more attractive.

HOME GARDENING

Start out with a definite object in view, secure a plan of development.

Avoid straight lines and sharp angles if possible. Graceful curves are more pleasing to the eye.

Plan to leave the center of the lawn unobstructed, planting the borders with masses of shrubs and trees.

Avoid too much variety in mass planting, alternating or "salt and pepper" arrangement is not nearly as effective as grouping plants of each kind.

An easy way to secure a gracefully curved outline for flower bed or shrub border is to lay the garden hose or an old clothes line on the ground and arrange it for the best effect. Scatter lime carefully along one side, remove the hose or line. The resultant white mark will be easy to follow with a spade.
